“Landscapes in Oils”

I love to look at landscape paintings! With the beautiful and varied terrain on this earth there seems to be no end to opportunities for inspiration. Oregon's high desert, open fields, dense forests and rugged coast invite us to paint.

In this workshop we will look at translating information from reference photos to a finished oil painting. We will work on perspective, color and values. Photographs will be available for your use. If you have favorite places you would like to paint and have your own photos, feel free to use them.
